Audience:

Great Plains Quality Care Collaborative team members, including administrators, nursing directors, quality improvement staff and infection prevention and control officers are invited to attend.

Purpose:

The GPQCC team is coming to a location near you! During this half-day training, attendees will learn strategies and share best practices to instill infection prevention and control practices to promote a safe environment and improve resident quality of life. The focus of the training session will be on sepsis, Multidrug-Resistant Organisms (MDROs), and Clostridium difficile Infection (CDI).

Featured Presenter:

Presentation: “There’s no place like home...”
Kristi Felix, BSN, RN, CRRN, CIC

Kristi is the Infection Prevention Coordinator at Madonna Rehabilitation Hospital in Lincoln, NE and has been in the infection prevention field for 26 years. She has worked in the post acute setting for over 30 years. Kristi is certified infection control through CBIC and is a fellow of the Association for Professionals in Infection Control. Kristi is president elect for the greater Omaha Chapter Association for Professionals in Infection Control and currently serves as the National APIC education instructor for the Long Term Care Certification Course. Kristi is the 2013 NICN Distinguished Service Award Winner and in 2011 received the National APIC Chapter Leadership Award.

Objectives:

Upon completion of this event, participants will be able to:

1. Apply infection prevention strategies, best practices, tools and resources to promote environmental safety while creating a homelike environment in the nursing home setting.
2. Demonstrate ways to implement change resulting in enhanced quality improvement and patient outcomes.

Continuing Education:

An application has been submitted to Iowa Western Community College Board of Nursing; approved provider #6 for 4.0 Nebraska peer reviewed continuing nursing education credit hours; pending approval.
